

Come Home to Your Future: A Brand New Home Built For You

Jamie Adam,
WRHBA President 2011-12

Thinking about buying a home? Looking for great style and lots of features? Want a home that's designed for your lifestyle? A home that is great to live in and "feels just right for you"? Then visit the professional new home builders in your community and discover what a brand new home has to offer.

"Nothing beats the value of today's new homes," says Jamie Adam, President of the Waterloo Region Home Builders' Association. "The quality of construction has never been better, and professional new home builders offer more choice, more features and more service than ever before, all at very competitive prices."

You will have no problem finding the right home for your family. New homes are designed for today's lifestyle, with bright open spaces and lots of windows, well-appointed kitchens, great rooms for family togetherness and cozy areas for quiet relaxation. Many standard plans can also be adapted to your specific needs.

New homes are rich in design details—from the drama of columns and wall niches for artwork to simple, understated elegance. The choice is yours.

No home is complete without your personal touch. While builders' practices vary, they all leave room for you to create the final look of your home. You choose the cabinets, flooring, tiles, lighting and other finishing components. With a new home, you get what you want, from the very beginning.

And that's just part of the picture. Just as important is what you cannot see, but will experience every day—lower energy costs, better indoor air and a very comfortable living environment, thanks to state-of-the-art construction and systems.

Buying a brand new home is a unique and satisfying experience. Professional new home builders are committed to customer satisfaction every step of the way. After you move into your home, new home builders stand behind their homes with a warranty and after-sales service.

Come home to your future—there is nothing like buying a brand new home. Visit www.wrhba.com online for the names of professional new home builders in your community.
